Mr. Ashley's Speech—Judge Reade—The Loyalty of our People.

The last Standard makes the following extract from the speech of Mr. Ashly of Ohio, in Congress, and makes it the text for a discourse, strongly Radical and as usual entirely unfair to our people. The following is the extract from Mr. Ashley's speech:

"There is another beautiful incident which I must not omit. Last summer, when the convention met in North Carolina, in response to the President's proclamation, to reorganize a constitutional State government, Mr. Reade, the president of that convention, on taking the chair, uttered words which thrilled the continent. I have no language to tell you, Mr. Speaker, how they touched my heart as I read them on the shores of the Pacific. I know that every loyal man in this nation called down benedictions on his head. These are his golden words:

"Fellow-citizens, we are going home. Let painful reflections upon our late separation and pleasant memories of our early union quicken our footsteps towards the old mansion, that we may grasp hard again the hand of friendship, which stands at the door; and, sheltered by the old homestead which was built upon a rock, and has weathered the storm, enjoy together the long, bright future which awaits us."

Sir, every loyal Representative in this Hall stands ready with open hand to-day to welcome all who thus speak from the heart; and, sir, whatever of local interest, or of prejudice or of passion may have carried an erring brother into this rebellion, if he but set his face toward the old homestead, uttering such brave words as these, I will run to meet him afar off, and for him the fatted calf shall be slain. But I do not propose to start out laden down with pardons and with the fatted calf smoking hot from the oven and hunt up and thrust both pardons and feast upon unrepentant, malignant, and defiant rebels. Nor do I propose to stand before them, hat in hand, and ask them on what terms they propose to return to the old mansion. Sir, every rebel shall resume his citizenship upon the terms and conditions prescribed by the loyal men of this nation, or so far as I am concerned, he shall remain alien forever."

We understand the Standard to endorse Mr. Ashley, whom it says, "is a firm and devoted Republican, and is indeed, what is called a radical."

Judge Reade's position at the first meeting of the Convention, was not only an expression of his own feelings, but of the feelings of the people of the State, in view of the impression which prevailed, that the North would adopt President Johnson's then known policy. The magnanimous and just programme of the President, made our people ready to return to the old mansion, and in the language of Judge Reade, many felt, "We are going home."

If the feelings of Mr. Ashley and his fellow-radicals, had been sincere at the prospect of the early restoration of the Southern States; if they had really desired their return "home," the work could have been accomplished at once.—If his professions of pleasure and the throbbings of his heart at the remarks of Judge Reade, had been sincere, indeed, if they were not entirely hypocritical, as the subsequent part of his speech too plainly shows, he and they would have opened their arms to receive a people, who were willing to return to the old homestead without a sill or sleeper displaced. There has been no change in Southern sentiment on this subject.—Our people stand to-day, where they stood when Judge Reade uttered the above sentiment, and where they stood when President Johnson first enunciated the terms of reconciliation. We defy the Standard or any one else to prove the contrary. If a different feeling exists among our people, and we admit that our people do feel differently, the course of the Radical majority in Congress alone has made it. Assuming to set aside the President's programme, they have proposed other and different terms, alike unknown to the Constitution and to humanity and to history.

As to President Johnson's policy, the editor of the Standard, then Provisional Governor of the State, pronounced it just and wise. To him was committed the task of restoring the State according to the President's programme. The loyalty of our people he measured by a rule of the President's, which he endorsed, sanctioned and executed. If disloyal men took part in the restoration, whose fault was it? Did not the Ex. P. G. pronounce every man loyal whom the President pardoned? Did he not recommend the pardon of many whom he did pardon?—Everybody knows that up to the Governor's election in November last, Ex. Gov. Holden declared our people loyal—declared the restoration effected to be by loyal men? What changed his position? Is it because the people changed? We deny it. The Ex. P. G. changed for the reason and the only reason—blush! human nature, to hear it—because the people of North Carolina did not prefer W. W. Holden for civil Governor. Since that he has turned his back upon his own people—entered into affinities with the enemies of his own people and seeks their degradation and ruin.

Judge Reade.

The refusal of the Convention to accept Judge Reade's resignation, was a most flattering compliment. We regard the course of the Convention also, as an indication of its purpose to adjourn at an early day.

Mr. Hendricks' Speech.

We give to-day an extract from the speech of Mr. Hendricks of Indiana, which exposes somewhat the tactics of the Radicals in passing the Reconstruction scheme.

The County Court of Edgecombe has resolved to pay the gold value of the Confederate debt of the County, amounting to something over five thousand dollars. Wilkes and Chowan Counties have adopted a similar course.—What does the Convention, now in session, think of this? Does the ordinance passed by that body on the subject of the rebel debt, authorise the Counties to assume and pay these debts?—If it does, the fact should be authoritatively declared, so that the other Counties may know what to do; but if it does not, and if Edgecombe Wilkes, and Chowan have violated the ordinance referred to, what is to prevent the Counties going further and re-establishing slavery, if they should choose to do so? If they can violate one ordinance of the Convention, they can violate all of them. It is only a question of time.—Standard.

The above is a very strange view of the subject under consideration. Edgecombe does not owe a dollar of the "Confederate debt," nor does she propose to pay a dollar of it. Nor does she propose to pay a single dollar of the State war debt repudiated by the Convention in obedience to the wishes of the President.—She simply proposes to pay a debt which she contracted with her own citizens for feeding and clothing the suffering women and children of the County. How does this violate the ordinance of the Convention? What clause of the ordinance prohibits the Counties from paying their debts? The zeal of the Standard hath eaten it up, or made its brains soft.

By Mr. Buxton, a petition of Henry Ingold, of Cumberland county, praying to be settled on a farm.

We find the above in the Convention proceedings of Wednesday. We do not know who "Henry Ingold" is, but from our knowledge of the name generally, we think he evinces a taste not shared by the majority of his namesakes.—Greensboro Patriot.

We learn the above petition caused some amusement in the Convention. We are quite sure "Henry Ingold" is no kinsman of our friend of the Patriot. Without knowing any thing about the case, we concluded the petitioner was one of that class of freedmen, who are spoiling to be allowed to vote, with the design of voting each one a farm when the time comes.

From the correspondence of the Richmond Examiner.

WASHINGTON, June 6.

The proceedings here and at Richmond in regard to the long delayed trial of Jefferson Davis, command universal attention, and furnish to day the chief topick of remark at the Capitol. "Try him, or let him go," the Tribune says, and to this there is a general response.—The opinion appears to be general, not only among the conservative men, but the Republicans, that Chief Justice Chase and Attorney General Speed are too deeply committed to the doctrine of State rights and State secession, and forcible resistance to the Union, to be able to charge Jefferson Davis with treason. Davis was a long way behind them in the assertion of the old Democratic State rights doctrine. They volunteered to use force against the authority of the Union. Chase was forward with his threats in advance of aggression. Davis patiently endured, and, to the last, was hopeful that adjustment would be effected.

However, we deal with substantial facts. We cannot know, at the time of this writing, what reply has been made to the counsel for Davis, to an application for trial or for bail, or parole. I know that the legal opinion here is, that he must be discharged from the custody of the military authorities before a civil court can permit him to be bailed. He must be turned over from the military to civil jurisdiction before Chief Justice Chase will undertake to try him for treason. Therefore, it would appear that if the trial be postponed to October or November, Mr. Davis cannot be bailed in the meantime. The President can parole him, it is true. His Radical opponents are most anxious that he should do this. It will be to them a relief and a triumph. The continued incarceration of Davis, without trial, shocks the public sense of justice. But if the President will discharge him, they will be relieved from this issue, so dangerous to their cause, and be enabled to make another against President Johnson, of alliance with treason. Other considerations may affect this matter. Jefferson Davis has said that between himself and President Lincoln there was no personal feeling; but as between himself and Andrew Johnson there was. As to this, it may be remarked that, granting it to be true at one time, the feeling, on the part of Andrew Johnson, has subsided. He has exhibited a great and forgiving nature, becoming his own exalted power and the exigencies of the country.

The President has been represented in Republican quarters as favorable to the Senatorial plan of reconstruction. He prefers it to the former plan. He, nevertheless, insists upon his own views, to-wit: That Congress ought, at the beginning of the session, and now ought, to admit all loyal men from the seceded States who are regularly elected. If Congress, with full representation from all the States, propose an amendment to the Constitution, by a two-thirds vote in each House, it is not for the President to object to it. In this sense, and with such understanding, he has, no doubt, encouraged conservative Republicans in all efforts towards the great object of practical restoration. There is a strong disposition in Congress to be rid of that ultra Radical dictation, and that "old man of the mountain," or rather of the caucus, by whom they have been ridden for six months, and ridden to their ruin, as they now begin to see. An ordinance to amend the act of the General Assembly entitled Salaries and Fees, was taken up, on motion of Mr. Jones, of Davidson.

Sundry amendments were offered.

Mr. Satterthwaite said:

MR. PRESIDENT:—I do not know what gentleman had the honor of introducing this ordinance. I have no particular hostility to its provisions, but I think the time has come when there ought to be a decided expression from the members of this Convention, as to the propriety of continuing on in the sea of general legislation; sitting in judgment upon the acts of the late Legislature, amending, revising, modifying and repealing, what they did. Now sir for one I have been from the first, and still am decidedly opposed to any such a course. Whatever is necessary to be done (of a legislative character) to keep the State government in operation until the next meeting of the Legislature, I am willing to assist in doing—but beyond that I am unwilling to go. We have matters of grave importance, which we may legitimately consider. Such as the re-writing of the State Constitution and putting it in such compact shape as to enable the humblest individual in the State to understand and comprehend it. If the delegates will engage their time in the consideration of such matters, I am here to assist them with whatever ability le an command, and as soon as we have done that, adjourn and go home; and in order to test the sense of the Convention, I will move the indefinite postponement of the ordinance, and call for the yeas and nays.

The ordinance was then laid on the table.—Yeas 73, Nays 28.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The Convention resumed consideration of the amended Constitution.

The question pending on the amendment offered by Mr. McIvor to article IV, it was withdrawn.

Mr. McIvor then moved to amend by adding the report of the majority of the Committee on Magistrates. [Limits the number of Magistrates to two for each Captain's district, with the exception of the district containing the Court House, which shall have four.]

Mr. Ellis moved, as an amendment to the amendment, the minority report of the Committee on Magistrates. [Proposes that Magistrates shall be elected every four years by the people.]

Messrs. Moore, of Wake, Boyden and Conigland opposed the amendment, which was supported by Messrs. Dick, Caldwell, of Guilford, and others.

The discussion of these amendments was protracted, without action, until half-past one o'clock, at which time President Reade tendered his resignation of the position of presiding officer of the Convention, in view of the approaching session of the Supreme Court.

Messrs. Mebane, Winston, Buxton, Dick, Pool, Boyden, Moore of Wake, and others concurred in deprecating the resignation of the President, and expressing the hope that he would continue to preside, designating who should fill the chair when he should be necessarily absent in the discharge of his duties as Judge of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Ferebee said he regretted to differ from the apparently unanimous opinion of those who have preceded him. He yielded to no one in his high appreciation of the merits of the presiding officer of this Convention—in his purity of character, honesty of purpose, and in the faithful and able discharge of his duties. Add to this, also, the strong personal attachments for the present incumbent of the chair, for whom at this time and for years past, his heart was justly entitled to full credit. All these operated strongly on him to control his vote, if anything outside of a sense of duty to the country, could control him. But he had an old fashioned way of discharging what he believed to be his duty to himself and to his constituents, to justice and to honor.—This old fashioned way might be obsolete and unfashionable, but he believed it to be honest and honorable. He, therefore, concurred with the President of the Convention, whose sense of honor and propriety has induced him to lay the subject of his resignation before this body. It is known that the presiding officer of this body is one of the associate Justices of the Supreme Court of North Carolina. That Court will assemble day after to-morrow for the discharge of its legitimate and appropriate duties. These duties are prescribed by the laws of the State. It is not possible to discharge the duties of both places. The duties of the two stations are inconsistent with each other. He cannot discharge both.

Mr. Winston introduced the following resolution; (Mr. Caldwell, of Burke in the Chair):

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Convention that the Presiding officer continue to hold his position until the deliberations of the Convention be brought to a conclusion, and that he designate from time to time the member or members who shall occupy the chair during his absence.

This resolution was adopted almost unanimously, Mr. Ferebee only voting in the negative.

Mr. Reade, resuming the chair, said that he "yielded implicitly to what seemed to be the general wish of the Convention."

The Convention resumed the unfinished business. After further discusion the amendment to the amendment was adopted, being the minority report—giving the election of magistrates to the people. The vote is as follows:

YEAS.—Messrs. Adams, Baker, Beam, Bell, Berry, Bradley, Bryan, Burgin, Caldwell, of Burke, Caldwell, of Guilford, Dick, Dickey, Ellis, Faulkner, Foy, Furches, Gahagan, Garland, Garrett, Godwin, Grissom, Harris, of Guilford, Harris, of Rutherford, Harrison, Haynes, Henry, Howard, Jackson, Jones, of Davidson, Jones, of Henderson, Joyce, King, Logan, Love, of Chatham, Love, of Jackson, Lyon, McCauley, McCorkle, McDonald, of Chatham, McDonald of Moore, N. A. McLean, Nat. McLean, Person, Pool, Richardson, Rush, Sloan, Smith, of Johnstor, Smith, of Wilkes, Spencer, of Montgomery, Starbuck, Stephenson, Swan, Ward.—54.

NAYS.—Messrs. Alexander, Bagley, Baines, Barrow, Bingham, Brickell, Brooks, Buxton, Conigland, Cowper, Dockery, Eaton, Ferebee, Jarvis, Jones, of Rowan, Joyner, Lash, McKoy, of Sampson, McGehee, McIvor, McRae, Mebane, Moore, of Wake, Murphy, Norfleet, Odom, Patterson, Pearsall, Perkins, Polk, Russell, Simmons, Smith, of Anson, Spencer, of Hyde, Thompson, Walkup, Willey, Wilson, Winburne, Winston, Wright.—41.

Pending a further consideration of the subject, the Convention adjourned until Monday morning, nine o'clok.

HOME AND MOTHER.—Home, where father and mother, brothers and sisters, have a unity of interest, sympathy and affection, becomes in mature life the most sacred picture

"That hangs on memory's wall."

In after years, when the Destroying Angel has crossed the household, and silenced its familiar voices in their death; when the hand of changing time has torn down the woodbines that climbed above its portals and windows, and when its paths echo only to the tread of strangers' feet, how often does remembrance lead us back to its sacred precincts, and make us realize that the home of childhood is the brightest spot, the fairest oasis on the desert of life. It is during these moments of retrospection that the religious instructions of youth flow back upon the soul. It is then that we kneel again by the side of her and list over the prayers she taught us. Poetry has encircled the name of "mother" with halos of beauty, but its language will never be adequate to measure her influence. To her the first years of our lives belong, and it is then in her power to plant seeds of virtue that will bud and blossom in the soul when age has plowed its deep furrows in our pale cheeks, or covered our locks with its snows. The prayers of a pious mother are a priceless legacy. They are like the dews of heaven, which first ascend from the earth to the skies, and then descend again to bless and revive the unfolding plant. Infidelity may array itself against the Bible, and its clamors may be loud among the assemblies of men, but it has not the courage to enter the sanctuary of a religious home, and there listen to the earnest prayers of a holy mother as she points her children to the throne of God.

"Whose breast with gentle billows

HUSBAND AND WIFE.—Preserve the privacies of your house, your married state, and your heart, from father, mother, brother, sister, and all the world. Between you two let no third come to share the secret joy or grief that belongs to your selves alone. Do you two, with God's help, build your own quiet world—not allowing the dearest earthly friend to be the confident of aught that concerns your domestic peace. Let moments of alienation, if they occur, be healed and forgotten in after-moments and years of faithful, devoted love; but never let the wall of another's confidence be built up between you and your wife's or husband's heart. Promise this to yourselves, and to each other. Review the vow at every temptation; you will find your account in it: your souls will grow as it were together, and at last become as one. Ah if many a young pair had on their wedding-day know this all important secret, how many marriages would have been happier than, alas they are!

FEMALE SOCIETY.—We endorse every word of John Randolph about ladies' society. Read what he says, young man, and act according:

You know my opinion about female society. Without it we should degenerate into brutes. This observation applies with ten-fold force to young men and those who are in the prime of manhood. For after a certain time in life, the literary may make a shift (a poor one I grant,) to do without the society of ladies. To a young man nothing is so important as a spirit of devotion (next to his Creator) to some amiable woman, whose image may occupy his heart and guard it against pollution, which be e sit on all sides. A man ought to choose a wife as Mrs. Primrose did her wedding gown, for qualities that "wear well." One thing, at least, is true—that if matrimony has its cares, celibacy has no pl asures. A Netown, or a more emine t scholar, may find enjoyment in mere study, a man of literary taste can receive in books a powerful auxiliary, but a man must have a bosom friend, and children around him, to cherish and support the dreariness of age.

SPEECH OF MR. HENDRICKS.

OF INDIANA.

The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the joint resolution (H. R. No. 127) proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, the pending question being on the amendment proposed by Mr. Howard, to insert the following after section three of the proposed article of constitutional amendment:

SEC. 4. The obligations of the United States, incurred in suppressing insurrection, or in defence of the Union, or for payment of bounties and pensions incident thereto, shall remain in violate.

Mr. Hendricks. Mr. President, nothing but a sense of imperative duty induces me to address the Senate upon this occasion. The Constitution is to be changed; the foundations of the Government are to be disturbed; some of the old oak timbers are to be removed, and timber of recent growth is to be substituted. Upon the foundations, fixed by the fathers our institutions have rested firmly and securely for three quarters of a century. They have stood unmoved by the contests of ambitious leaders, the angry strife of parties, and the rolling waves of war. In peace and in war; in the turbulence of times of financial embarrassment, and the corruptions attendant upon the accumulation of great wealth; in every possible state and condition of our society, the Constitution has borne the test; and the fact now stands conceded that it established a system of government entirely adapted to our wants and condition as a people. This is proven beyond cavil and question by the prosperity and individual happiness that attended our growth, and the greatness and power to which we attained. The prosperity of the citizen, his security and happiness, and the might and grandeur of the nation attest the excellence of our form of government. The blessings of the past are our guaranty for the future, if we but maintain our institutions as they are.

And now, sir, in this, the most unsafe period of our history; when the passions excited by the war are yet fierce; when sectional controversies run high, and party strife is raging; when eleven States are absent from this chamber, and other sections, seizing the opportunity, seek to aggrandize their power, and to fasten upon the country a partial and unequal policy; when the lust for power and gain carries men beyond the restraints of justice and right; at such a time I cannot remain wholly silent, when I see the hand of the partisan and the self-constituted reformer laid upon the sacred work of the fathers. In such a case to speak is a man's duty, though none may heed. But, Mr. President, it is hard work to speak when one knows in advance that no argument, however just and forcible, and no appeal, however pariotic, can influence a single vote; that the authority and law of a political party is over every Senator of the majority; and that it remains now only to register the decree of the secret caucus.

At the meeting of Congress, but before the President had delivered his message, and before his views had been officially communicated, the Republican members, in caucus, determined to raise a committee of fifteen to "inquire into the condition of the States which formed the so-called Confederate States of America, and report whether they or any of them are entitled to be represented in either House of Congress." In most indecent haste the resolution passed both branches, and the committee became fastened upon Congress and the country. Because of its party origin, and the work it had to do, and the secret character of its proceedings, that committee came to be known as the "revolutionary tribunal," "the directory," and the "star chamber." Its first report was made some months since, in which it was proposed to reduce the representation of the Southern States, but by the aid of the distinguished Senator from Massachusetts, (Mr. Sumner,) who submits to party restraints upon his judgment with impatience, that measure was defeated. Its second report is now upon our desks. It passed the House, but when it came under discussion in the Senate, and had to bear the test of the independent judgment of Senators, it was found wanting, and its defeat became almost certain. A second defeat of a party programme could not be borne; its effect upon the fall elections would be disastrous. A caucus was called, and we witnessed the astounding spectacle of the withdrawal, for the time, of a great legislative measure, touching the Constitution itself, from the Senate, that it might be decided in the secret councils of a party. For three days the Senate Chamber was silent, but the discussions were transferred to another room of the Capitol, with closed doors and darkened windows, where party leaders might safely contend for a political and party policy.

When Senators returned to their seats I was curious to observe who had won and who lost in the party lottery. The dark brow of the Senator from New Hampshire (Mr. Clark) was lighted with a gleam of pleasure. His proposed substitute for the third section was the marked feature of the measure. But upon the lofty brow of the Senator from Nevada (Mr. Stewart) there rested a cloud of disappointment and grief. His bantling, which he had so often dressed and undressed in the presence of the Senate, the darling offspring of his brain, was dead; it had died in the caucus; and it was left to the sad Senator only to hope that it might not be his last. Upon the serene countenance of the Senator from Maine, the chairman of the fifteen, there rested the composure of the highest satisfaction; a plausible political platform had been devised, and there was yet a hope for his party.

Mr. President, I recognize the propriety and necessity of conventions and caucuses to regulate all questions of organization and political policy; but I have never felt myself authorized to subordinate my judgment as a representative of the people to the decision of any body of men other than those I represent. To me it seems clear that each Senator owes it to the country to vote upon every important measure and every proposed modification thereof according to the dictates of his own judgment and conscience. The Constitution requires that two-thirds of the Senators, each answering for himself, shall agree to a proposed amendment before it can be submitted to the States. In this weighty business now before us what are the facts? The House sent us four propositions to change the Constitution in one bill. Upon discussion it was found that probably no one of the propositions, nor any proposed modification thereof, could receive the required vote. Two-thirds of the Senators, belong to one political party, retired from the Senate to consider and agree upon a bill. Each Senator, by going into the secret caucus, agreed and became bound to vote for whatever the majority of the caucus should adopt. A section or an entire bill may be adopted by a bare majority of the caucus, much less than one-half the Senate, but the entire two-thirds must vote for it in the Senate, not because it is right, but because the majority of the caucus has said so; and thus an amendment of the Constitution may be adopted by the Senate when a majority of the body would vote against it if no party obligation rested upon them. What Senator would dare propose to shut these doors against the people, that we in secret might take steps to change their great charter of liberty? The people would not endure it, but in the congregating thousands would burst them open and demand to know all that was said and done upon a matter of such interest to them. The present proposed amendment has been decided upon in a conclave more secret than has ever been known in this country.

So carefully has the obligation of secrecy been observed that no outside Senators, not even the sharp-eyed men of the press, have been able to learn one word that was spoken, or one vote given. An Egyptian darkness covers the proceedings. The secret could not be more profound had the conclave assembled down in the deep and dark caverns of the earth. If you change the Constitution have not the people a right to know how and why it is done, what was proposed and said, and how each Senator voted? Is it not their business? Or indeed, have they masters, party chieftains, who may say to them, "We govern, you obey?" Is it not a fact that shall arrest attention that since this measure was reported from the caucus, scarcely an explanation has been conceded, and not one amendment offered or voted for by a single Senator who was in the caucus, so exacting and imperative is the obligation, and so literally is party authority obeyed. Sir, if the people can only come to know how this thing has been done, I believe they will refuse their endorsement.

Monday, June 11, 1866.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

The case of Mr. Hodge has been disposed of, by admitting him to bail in the sum of $10,000 we learn, for his appearance at Court.

FRUITS OF THEIR BAD EDUCATION.—We learn that some of the colored boys who attend the colored schools in town, were guilty of very bad conduct towards the children of W. H. High, Esq., a few days ago, as they were going or returning from school. Some of the boys have been discovered and severely whipped for their conduct. Such outrages will not be allowed, and if it is repeated, the authors will be severely handled. Such boys must be badly taught.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.—The Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road has given notice of its purpose to arrive here with the mail train at 4 o'clock, P. M., each day. The N. C. R. Road mail train by its schedule will leave here for Charlotte at 3.45 P. M. That would leave 15 minutes before the arrival of the train from Weldon, which would defeat the whole arrangement.

We learn from Mr. Wilkes that his schedule is acording to the recent agreement and that he must leave at 3.45, or fail to accomplish the schedule. If so, the Raleigh and Gaston must arrive here at half-past 3 o'clock, P. M., to be in time for the Western train.

Agricultural Prospects of Eastern North Carolina.

A friend who has just returned from a business visit to some of the Eastern counties of the State, has kindly furnished us with a few items of interest, which we feel assured will prove interesting to our readers:

In Gates, Hertford and Chowan, which were formerly large corn growing counties, it was found that there was but little corn on hand, and hardly sufficient planted to meet the home demand. The planters were however attending almost exclusively to the cultivation of cotton with favorable prospects of success. There is on hand in these counties large quantities of bacon. The Freedmen's Bureau was managed with much satisfaction, especially in Hertford.

In Perquimans and Pasquotank, corn was still being cultivated as the chief staple of agriculture. In these counties, especially in the former, negro labor was scarce. The wheat crop in Perquimans was very good.

In Washington and Tyrrell there was great scarcity of negro laborers; but great activity and determination was evinced by the white population to engage in agricultural labors.—Shingles in large quantities and of a superior quality were being made, in Washington especially. The town of Plymouth was literally in ruins.

In Hyde as many acres have been planted in corn as formerly, and there exists at this time as flattering prospects for as large a crop as has ever been raised in this very productive County. There is at the present time a large supply of bacon on hand. In this County there is no Bureau organization, and in consequence thereof, there exists the most kindly good feeling between the whites and blacks, and the freedmen are laboring with great faithfulness and contentment.

In most of these counties much disposition is exhibited to seek a market in our city, but vessels were very scarce and freights extremely high.

Our friend speaks in the most exalted terms of the energy and spirit of the people of that section, and the faithful and honest earnestness with which they have accepted the "situation" and gone to work to restore the crippled prosperity of their section and State. The noble efforts of these people will go far to counteract the obstruction cast in the way of reconciliation by the Reconstruction Committee, and the Mechanics, Merchants, Agriculturists and Professional men of the entire South, by their industry and attention to their various duties, and by an honest observance of the laws of the country, are forming great and powerful Reconstruction Committees, which will yet restore the country to its former prosperity and glory. —Wil. Journal.

WHAT IS THE CONVENTION DOING?—It is very natural to suppose that the people look to the State Convention for relief, if possible, from the financial troubles and difficulties under which they are suffering; and the question "what is the Convention doing," seems to be the all absorbing topic among our friends, just now.—Salem Press.

A KEEN REPORT.—The post-office in our village, writes a Vermont lady, was kept in the bar-room of the tavern—a great resort for loungers. An old chap, more remarkable for his coarseness and infidelity than his good manners, was sitting there one day with a lot of boon companions, when the Methodist preacher, a new comer in the village, entered and asked for his letters.

Old Swipes asked bluntly, "Are you the Methodist parson just come here to preach?"

"I am," pleasantly replied the minister.

"Well," said old Swipes, "will you tell me how old the devil is?"

"Keep your own family record," quickly returned the preacher, and left the room amidst the roars of the company.

RETURN OF FIVE TWENTIES.—A letter received at Washington by the last steamer, from a prominent United States official at Frankfort-on-the-Main, says that large shipments of five-twenties may be expected in June, owing to the great apprehension of war on the continent. Persons who purchased the bonds as permanent investment are now anxious to realize, and are flooding the banking houses in the principal cities of Germany with them. He estimates that seventy-five millions worth of these bonds will be returned to America within the next thirty days.

HUMAN LIFE.—Hope writes the poetry of the boy, but memory that of the man. Man looks forward with smiles, but backward with sighs. Such is the wise providence of Heaven. The cup of life is sweeter at the brim, the flavor is impaired as we drink deeper, and the dregs are made bitter that we may not struggle when the cup is taken from our lips.

INTEGRITY.—In all things, preserve integrity; the consciousness of thy own uprightness will alleviate the toil of business and soften the harshness of disappointment, and give thee a humble confidence before God, when the ingratitude of man or the iniquity of the times may rob you of the other due reward.

HONORS TO THE DEAD.—We learn that the ladies of this place have collected by subscription a sufficient sum of money to enable them to remove the bodies of all the Confederate dead interred in the vicinity of Fayetteville, to the Cross Creek Cemetery.—Fayetteville News.

A Battle—Fenians Successful.

A special report from St. Albans mentions an engagement between Col. Scanlon's regiment and the British Cavalry near Pidgeon Hill. The British Cavalry were dispersed and fled in confusion. The Fenians captured one hundred horses and three flags. Four Fenians were wounded, and one British soldier was killed and three wounded. Scanlon subsequently ordered his regiment to withdraw from Canadian soil. But Gen. Spear still remains.

Congress—Final Report of Reconstruction Committee.

WASHINGTON, June 8.

The final report of the Reconstruction Committee was read in both Houses to-day, setting forth the reasons for the action of the majority. The conclusions of the Committee are briefly, that the people at the South have proved themselves insurgents and traitors and forfeited thus all political rights and privileges—that the so-called Confederate States are not entitled to representation in Congress—that before allowing it, adequate security for future peace and safety should be required from them, and this can only be found in such changes of the organic law as shall determine the civil rights and privileges of the citizens in all parts of the Republic.

That representation should be on an equitable basis—a stigma should be fixed on treason, and protection given to loyal people against all future claims for expenses incurred in the rebellion, and for slaves emancipated by the war, together with an express grant of power in Congress to enforce these provisions.

To this end, the committee advocate the joint resolutions amendatory of the Constitution, and the two separate bills designed to carry the same into effect. The committee claim in conclusion, that these bills are the result of conciliation and concession. The report is signed by ten Republican members. The dissentients are Senator Johnson and Representatives Grider and Rogers.

The Reconstruction resolutions in the Senate, passed to-day, yeas 33, nays 11. The latter were Messrs. Cowan, Davis, Doolittle, Guthrie, Hendricks, Johnson, McDougald, Norton, Riddle, Saulsbury and Van Winkle. Those absent were Messrs. Brown, Dixon, Nesmith, and Wright.

Fenian Privateer.

NEW YORK, June 8.

It is stated that a Fenian privateer left here several weeks ago. The crew, arms and ammunition were put on board on Long Island.—The vessel was an ironside, a wheel steamer, mounting six broad-sides and one pivot gun, and it is said she was able to make 14 knots per hour.

Trial of Sweeney &c.

ST. ALBANS, June 8.

Gen. Sweeney and Col. Mecham were arraigned before a civil tribunal this morning. The proceedings were private. Reporters were excluded.

At Toronto it is reported all quiet on the Western frontier. Parliament meets to-day. It is understood that the Governor General asks for the immediate suspension of the habeas corpus. An attempt to seize the Canadian steamers Corinthian and Rochester, at Charlotte, on yesterday, was frustrated.

Mail Train run off and a Man Killed.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.

The mail train from Pottsville, ran off the track at Valley Forge. The switch was left open and the whole was precipitated over an embankment of 12 feet. Thos. Dorman, mail conductor, was frightfully mangled and killed. A lady had both legs cut off. A number were bruised and a fireman was killed instantly. It is the first accident in 12 years on the Reading Road.

Probst who was hung yesterday died in three minutes after the cord was drawn. He wrote a letter to his parents, in which after mentioning the religious consolations he has, says many prayers are offered up for me throughout the city, and therefore I am cheerful and consoled that I can gladly offer my life as an atonement for my fearful crime. I trust also you will be as cheerful and consoled as I am. The clergyman will send you all the particulars of my death. I only entreat you all to pray for me and have the holy sacrifice of mass offered up frequently for the repose of my poor soul. I trust to meet you all in eternity in a happier and better place; and hope makes me rejoice with my whole heart.

Fenian News.

NEW YORK, June 8.

A St. Albans dispatch states that Sweeney has been bailed in the sum of $20,000. Nothing further has been heard from the advance of the Fenians up to noon to-day. Several left St. Albans en route for home, their passage to Springfield and Boston being paid by the government, for which they appear to feel grateful, and say, if those at the front knew of it, they would all return.

Twenty-five hundred British regulars have been landed at Farnum, a few miles opposite the invaders.

President Roberts offered his own personal security in bail to-day, but the Commissioner refused. He probably will be jailed to-night.

THE COTTON CROP.—Accounts from Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, South and North Carolina represent that the growing crop of cotton is seriously impaired by cold weather, heavy rains, and the overflowing of cotton lands. Defective seed is in great measure the cause of the failure. The growing cotton is yellow and sickly.

Have we a National Disease?

S. D. Wallace, Esq., President of the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad, [Aug. 30, 1865,] says: "It has been said that Dyspepsia is our national disease. However this may be, it caused me, long and severe suffering. Providentially a friend furnished me with a few boxes of the HEPATIC PILLS, and the use of them has perfected a cure. In my family they have been used frequently with eminent success. Among my acquaintances, many cases originating from diseased liver, have been relieved and cured by them. I regard them as an invaluable medicine, and take pleasure in forwarding this voluntary tribute."

For sale by the Druggists. Directions accompany each box. Sent to any part of the United States for $3 per dozen. Address,

A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE!

DR. MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitative, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant. There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disinfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggiel's Bilious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhea Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 43 Fulton Street, New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box. Sold by all Druggists in Raleigh.

A BOON TO THE SICK.
AND
THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD.
DR. MAGGIEL'S PILLS AND SALVE.

These Life-giving remedies are now given publicly to the world. For over a quarter of a century of private practice the ingredients in these

LIFE-GIVING PILLS!

Have been used with the greatest success. Their mission is not only to prevent disease, but to cure. They search out the various maladies by which the patient is suffering and reinvigorate the failing system. To the aged and infirm a few doses of these valuable PILLS will prove to be

A VERY FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH,

For in every case they add new life and vitality, and restore the waning energies to their pristine state.—To the young and middle-aged they will prove most invaluable, as a ready, specific and sterling medicine. Here is a dream realized, that Ponce-de Leon sought for three hundred years ago, and never found. He looked for a fountain that would restore the old to vigor and make youth ever

An Eternal Spring!

It was left for this day and hour to realize the dream, and show in one glorious fact, that magic that made it fair.

THESE FAMOUS REMEDIES

Cannot stay the flight of years, but they can force back and hold aloof, diseases that might triumph over the aged and the young. Let none hesitate then, but seize the favorable opportunity the offers. When taken as prescribed—

FOR BILLIOUS DISORDERS

Nothing can be more productive of cure than these Pills. Their almost magic influence is felt at once, and the usual concomitants of this most distressing disease are removed. These remedies are made from the purest

VEGETABLE COMPOUNDS.

They will not harm the most delicate female, and can be given with good effect in prescribed dose to the youngest babe.

FOR CUTANEOUS DISORDERS

And all eruptions of the skin, the SALVE is most invaluable. It does not heal externally alone, but penetrates with the most searching effects to the very root of the evil.

COTTON GINS,

MANUFACTURED BY

W. G. CLEMONS, BROWN & CO.,

COLUMBUS, GA.

WE have received the manufacture of Cotton Gins in this city, and will be prepared to fill orders by 1st June next. As we shall not be, as heretofore, represented by traveling agents parties wishing our Gins, will confer a favor by sending in their orders at an early day. As owing to the demand, we shall be unable to keep a stock in the hands of our local agents, as it was our practice before the war. All business transactions being now reduced to cash, our sales will be made on the basis of ready pay.

Our Gins are too well known to require any special notice or commendation; we believe they are unrivalled in the chief points of excellence which go to make up a superior machine, namely: Speed, light draught and good sample.

Our DOUBLE CYLINDER GINS will be found superior to the single cylinder, when parties have steam or good water power, to give them the necessary speed. In all cases when this can be done, we recommend them in preference to the single cylinder. If, however, indifferent or insufficient power is used, they will not do as well as the single Gin.

Messrs. DeROSSET & CO., Wilmington, N. C., are our general agents for the State of North Carolina.

W. G. CLEMONS, BROWN & CO.

Columbus, Ga., April 24 '66

We will give prompt attention to orders for the above celebrated Gins from any part of the State. The price is five dollars ($5) per Saw at the Factory, and five dollars for each Gin will only be charged to purchasers for transportation to this point.

WHITE SULPHUR AND CHALYBEATE SPRINGS.

THE UNDERSIGNED has the satisfaction of announcing to the public, that he has leased these celebrated Springs, and that they will be opened for the reception of visitors on the first day of June ensuing.

His arrangements are of that complete and extensive character, that he will be able to accommodate a large number of guests and to offer greater attractions than usual to those who may visit

This pleasant and healthful resort.

No trouble or expense will be spared to render his patrons comfortable and satisfied.

The grounds are elegantly laid off, and the buildings are enlarged and improved.

He will have ICE, MILK, VEGETABLES, and all the substantials and delicacies of the table in profusion.

An ICE CREAM SALOON and SODA FOUNTAIN will be attached to the establishment, where those refreshments, as well as CONFECTIONERY, Fruits &c can be always obtained.

The bar will be supplied with the finest liquors, and a billiard saloon and bowling alley, for amusement and exercise, be at the disposal of visitors.

The Medicinal Properties

Of the Sulphur water have been amply tested during many years by a large number of visitors, and its beneficial results strikingly displayed in the cure or relief of Dyspepsia, Affections of the Liver, Jaundice, Diseases of the Skin, &c.

Another Spring has been discovered in the vicinity of the establishment, an accurate scientific analysis of which [given below] proves that it is a valuable Chalybeate. It is a mild and gentle tonic, and in the opinion of the physicians who have examined it, and witnessed its effects in some cases during several seasons, must prove beneficial in Atonic Dyspepsia, Chlorosis, Uterine, Nervous and Neuralgic Affections connected with Debility; and of especial service to persons living in malarious regions of country, whose blood has been robbed of its normal proportion of iron by repeated attacks of malarial fevers.

Persons traveling on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad will always find a line of stages, under the management of Mr Granger, ready for their accommodation at Warren on Depot. There will be a daily mail from Warrenton to the Springs.

COPY RIGHT SECURED.

"A Calendar for the Christian Era, combining the Julian and Gregorian modes of reckoning time, by James Rumley, of N. C."

The subscriber having copy-righted this most valuable of all the "Calendars" ever before offered to the public, will be prepared in a few days to supply the demand for them to any extent.

Many attempts have been made, from time to time, to secure a Calendar, by which all the dates of the Christian Era could be accurately, and at the same time readily, found. These attempts have heretofore signally failed because the authors have sought to condense too much, and because they were really not conversant with the subject of which they treated, and which they vainly endeavored to elucidate.

I claim for the Calendar now presented, perfect simplicity of arrangement, combined with the most infallible accuracy. The plan is so simple that any one who can use an ordinary Almanac, or Counting House Calendar, cannot fail to see clearly into the working of this. Time past, present or future can be immediately found. Its accuracy will bear the test of the most rigid scrutiny. I invite criticisms, and confidently appeal to an enlightened public judgment for a frank expression of opinion as to its merits.

To supply a want long felt, the author has appended to the Calendar, under the head of "Explanatory Remarks," a succinct, but most valuable history of the Julian Calendar from the time of Julius Cæsar, and of the astronomical causes which led to the change made by Pope Gregory XIII, in 1582. These notes alone are worth the price of the Calendar.

If any object to the space the Calendar occupies, the objection is answered by the reply that any attempt at condensation would be a sacrifice of simplicity, the fatal rock on which every previous attempt has been stranded.

Every professional man, every mechanic and farmer, all merchants and tradesmen should supply themselves with copies, at once. Price $1.

NOTICE,

OF

Importance to all whom it may concern.

—READ,—

The undersigned, Agent of the ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY for the State of North Carolina, would respectfully inform those who represent deceased friends, insured in this Company, to apply at my office for the settlement of Policies, as soon as they can conveniently and conveniently do so.

MR. JUSTUS KINSEY'S death has been announced in our community. He was one of our most worthy citizens and active business men, and took the precaution, in time, to provide for his now sorrowing loved ones by an Insurance on his life for $5,000 in the gallant "Ætna," which has never refused to pay a loss promptly. And in this case the persons entitled to receive the amount will please present themselves and the policy at my office for payment.

Here we are furnished with an example of prudent forethought worthy of imitation by each and all who have hearts to love, and hands to provide for their dependent loved ones. The investment of $150 has provided in cash for this family.

No man should neglect a transaction so important.
